EPA RECOMMENDATIONS
INCLUDED IN THE "CITIZEN'S GUIDE TO RADON"

Step One:

"Take a short-term test. If your result is 4 picocuries per liter (pCi/L) or higher, take a follow up test to be sure."

Step Two:

"Follow up with either a long-term or a second short-term test: For a better understanding of your year-round average radon level, take a long-term test. If you need results quickly, take a second short-term test."

Step Two is followed by this comment: "The higher your initial short-term test result, the more certain you can be that you should take a short-term rather than a long-term follow up test. If your first short-term test result is several times the action level -- for example, about 10 pCi/l or higher -- you should take a second short-term test immediately."

Step Three:

"If you followed up with a long-term test: Fix your home if your long-term test result is 4 pCi/l or more. If you followed up with a second short-term test: The higher your short-term results, the more certain you can be that you should fix your home. Consider fixing your home if the average of your first and second test is 4 pCi/l or higher."
